

Jon The Potter

At Nursery this week, we were delighted to welcome Jon The Potter for a special hands-on experience. The children explored the clay using their hands, enjoying a rich sensory activity. They were fascinated by how the clay changed from cold to warm as they handled it.

We also explored mark-making techniques. Some children chose to use paintbrushes, while most preferred to use their hands to make patterns and impressions.

The children manipulated the clay in a variety of ways-squeezing, pinching, flattening, and shaping it with great enthusiasm.

It was a wonderfully messy and creative session, filled with curiosity, exploration, and lots of fun!
